Licence Requirements

To take the Driving Theory or CPC Case Study Test you must have a current GB or Northern Ireland driving licence with entitlement for the category of test you wish to take. Make sure you have signed your licence and bring both parts of it when you come for your theory test. If you don't bring both parts you may not be able to take the test and you will lose your fee.

UK residency requirements

You cannot take a test or obtain a full licence unless you are normally resident in the UK. Normal residence means the place where you reside because of personal or occupational ties. However, if you have moved to the UK having been permanently resident in another state of the EC/EEA (European Economic Area), you must have been normally resident in the UK for 185 Days in the 12 months prior to your application for a driving test or a full driving licence.
